

Jock Doubleday: Lighting Up The Room And Leaving

My goodness. It's been so long since I've got a good, redmeat, juicy piece of hate mail I was beginning to despair. Oh, sure, I'd get the random email with a few arguments, or a nice letter complimenting the site. But nothing, nothing until yesterday. Jock Doubleday of The Revolution Will Not Be Televised has decided to throw some ad hominems and threats my way. Curiously enough, I've suddenly attracted a stalker at Democratic Underground, a place I post at frequently. Imagine that. It surely must be a coincidence, don't you think?

Anyway, let's take a look at what the dear soul had to say to me:

Subject: your analysis

Yes, that's jock's real email address. You'll understand why I share it with you later.

Hello Joseph,

Hello to you, too, Jock.

1) You write that Architects and Engineers for 9/11 Truth is "really just a front organization that's being used for PR purposes." If that's true, why haven't you named the company that it's a front for? :)

Good point. What I mean to say is that the organization is putting up a front. As far as I know, it is a front for no company or individual that wishes to keep their true identity secret. It was quite openly founded by Richard Gage to push his silly conspiracy theories.

The front consists of the massive appeal to authority that is at the heart of the group's message. Gage wants it to appear that his organization has massive appeal to building professionals. That would mean that people should take some time and consider that the group has something rational to say. However, AE911Truth has openly admitted they have no expertise in the matter they are discussing, and their puny numbers (when compared to the number of building professionals in the United States and worldwide) gives the lie to even this sad attempt to impress.

I'll word that better in the future. Thanks for pointing that out.

2) You say that you "just can't keep up with" Richard Gage's mounting information on the controlled demolition of the WTC towers. You write: "The slideshow is currently on its fifth version, and it is up to 570 slides now. What's worse, they keep switching the order of slides back and forth." That's terrible! Sorry to hear you're so dismayed.

I believe you were trying to make a point. My point is that AE911Truth was likely involved in an attempt to resist my critique. They were also scrambling to come up with more subtle disinformation to replace some of the incredibly hokey arguments and faked evidence that Gage pushed in the early days of his lectures. A list of their Top 10 Boneheaded Mistakes is available at my website. Feel free to check it out.

3) Do you seriously believe your text at:
<http://ae911truth.info/tiki-index.php?page=Rapid+Onset>

Yes.

4) I see you studied theater and religion in college. No offense, but your attempt at "doing" physics embarrasses you. Please consider sticking with a) God (the Guy In The Sky one believes in without evidence) and b) live voice writing and dinner theater. Real architects and engineers have some evidence-based things to say about 9/11 (please refer to 570 slides), and your "analysis" is gobbledygook.

An organization which claims as its main inspiration the theologian David Ray Griffin really should refrain from seeking to discredit me because of my former beliefs.

I have referred to the 570 slides (or the 583 if you count the super secret bin-Laden-didn't-do-it-must-have-been-the-Jooooooooos ones that are in the directory but aren't allowed to be seen in the slide show viewer). They are useless. AE911Truth has no authority for the list of characteristic features they offer the public, and they cannot even demonstrate the features that they claim.

What you are doing here, Jock, other than just attacking me, is called hand waving. You don't bother trying to take issue with anything I have written, other than the one point which I conceded. Everything else here is just you getting your licks in. Is that anyway to act?

Please do not write me back with an ad hominem attack -- which it seems to me is the only kind of email your level of understanding in this area might allow.

Don't write you back. Gotcha. Why would I want to write back someone so obviously prejudiced against me? Consider it done.

However, I reserve the right to publish each and every word you ever send to my email address. Don't like it? Don't write me back.

If you did not get what I just said, what I just said is: Don't write back. Instead, watch ALL the videos at:

<http://therevolutionwillnotbeorganized.org>

Yawn. I'll get right on that. Is 2533 good for you? Hey, tell you what, if you could possibly be a little snottier to me, I might move it up to 2256...

Did you get that?

- 1) Don't write back
- 2) Watch all the vids at the URL above.

Thanks for your compliance with my requests.

2256 it is! Do you mind if you're just penciled in? I might need to clean the gutters.

Let's see. You make one good point about my writing, and you then start out with this smug ad hominem for the rest of this email, then get all huffy about me writing back to you as if I had ever written you in the first place! Hatred is something that demeans you, Jock. Please speak to someone you trust about this.

You'll be hearing from them.

See what I mean, Jock? Not only are you sending me hate mail, you're threatening me with lots of other cowards like yourself sending me hate mail. This is so small of you, Jock. When you act like this, you just demonstrate your own lack of character. Why would you do something so calculated to make me look better? Unless...

NWOKitty? Is that you? Ooo, I should say no more. Nice one.

By the way, you missed a couple of my websites, Jock. When Nico Haupt did a dossier on me, he found my Amazon.com page, got a picture of me at a coffee shop I used to work out, and a few more besides. How does it feel to be out-researched by a no-planer?

Sincerely,

Jock Doubleday

You know, for hate mail, that was kind of lame. Maybe there's hope for Jock. Maybe he held back because he knows how wrong he is. Maybe one day he'll look back on this sorry little episode in his life, realize that he only hurt himself here, and apologize. I remain ready for that apology at any time. You know where to find me.
